June, 1994

Dear Rice Cousins,

This has been a difficult year for many of us. The economy may be fine for some, but it has been a disaster for others. Add to that the just-about all-time harshest winter here in the east; with much snow, cold, ice and frigid wind, it has made for a very difficult time.

In addition to these things, my only sister of over 70 years became sick and died in March, the day before my birthday. Now we have to settle the estate. Trouble, trouble; the camel can only carry so much of anything. What to do?

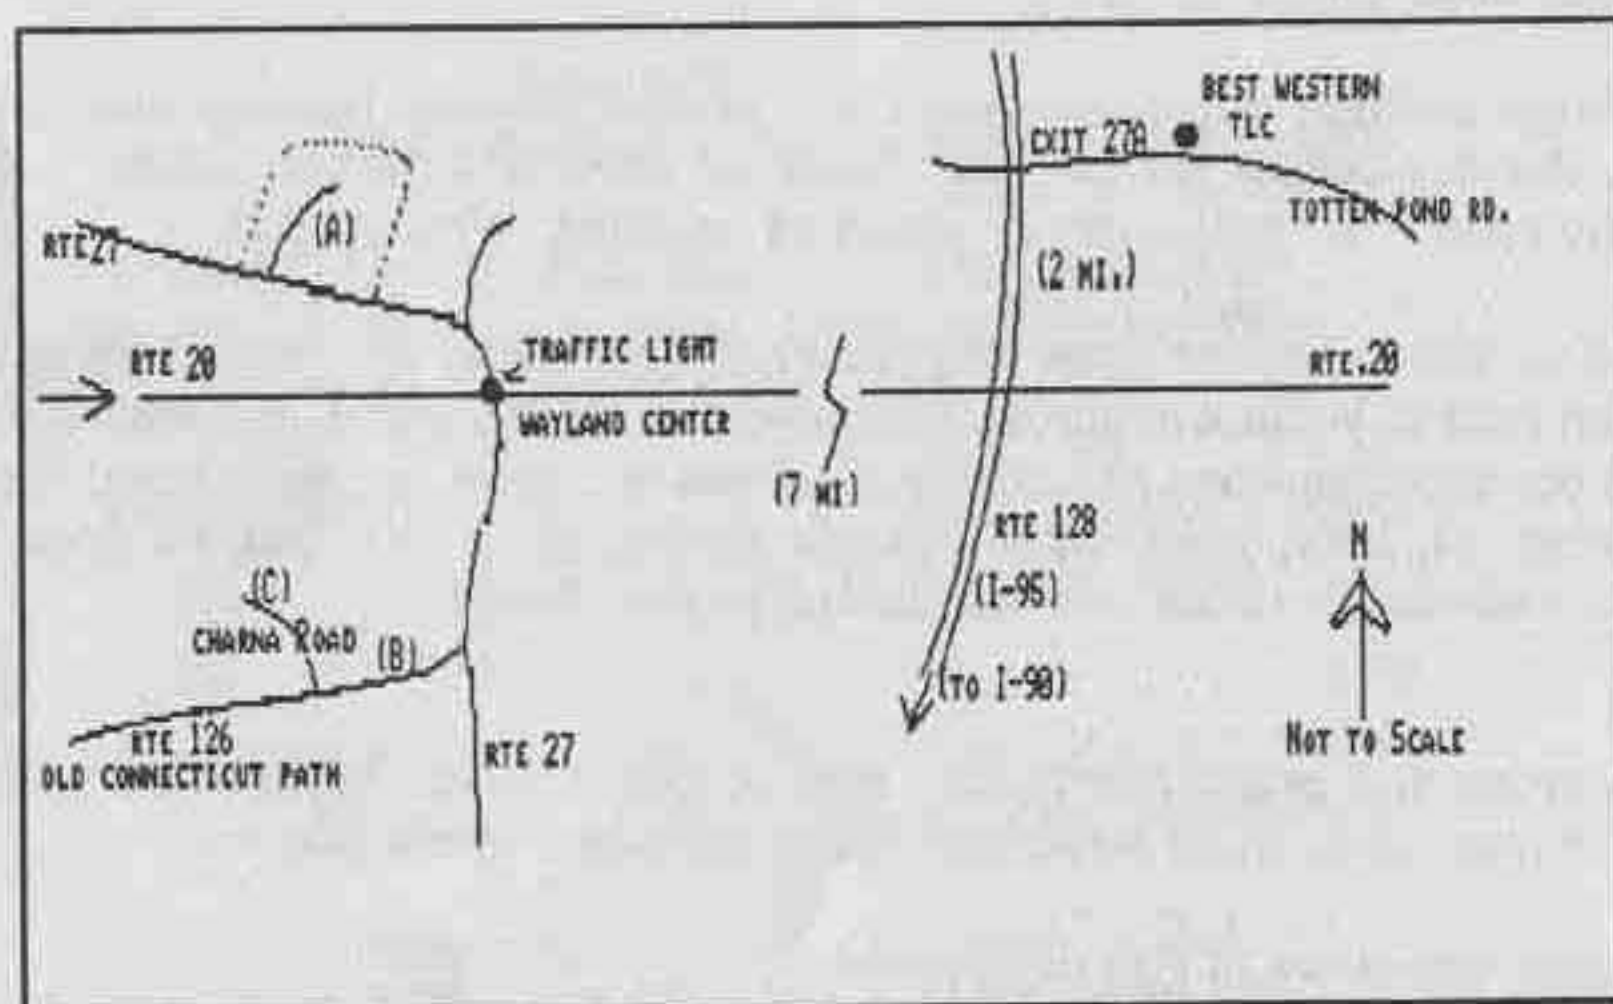

I called on Bill Drury for some help, and he (Thank you, Bill) picked up the Rice ball and ran with it. What was getting too much for me to handle, he took over. Now we have a complete package to offer to all of you members for our Annual Meeting on September 24, 1994. Look for the details farther on in this issue - a good place to meet and all details taken care of, thanks to Bill Drury.

Spring green and bright flowers are here at last, and the clouds are clearing. At least that is true here, and I hope you find it the same where you are.

Hoping to see many of you in September,

The following map shows the location of the hotel as well as the various places of Edmund Rice interest in relation to Interstate -95. Detailed directions to these sites will be available at the meeting.

- A = Edmund Rice memorial stone.
 B = Boulder beside road, with plaque marking site of Rice homestead.
 C = Actual site of Rice homestead.

The TLC Hotel is reached via Rte 128/I-95, exit 27A. "Turn right at the light and the TLC is just on your left."

REUNION, 1994

This year's reunion and Annual Meeting will be held on Saturday, September 24. Unfortunately, our hopes to use the First Parish Church in Sudbury as the site for this meeting were dashed when we learned that two weddings were already scheduled at the church on that day. Alternative dates were not satisfactory; so the committee has chosen another site, only a few miles farther from the Edmund Rice memorials.

Therefore;

the 1994 Annual Meeting will be held at the Best Western TLC Hotel on Totten Pond Road in Waltham, Mass.

Registration will begin at 9:30 A.M., accompanied by the usual coffee, tea or Sanka and "breakfast pastry".

A meeting of the Board of Directors will be held at 11:00, followed by luncheon.

The choices for the luncheon are roast native turkey, broiled New England scrod, or a vegetarian dish. Please note your choice(s) on the reservation blank below. The cost of the entire affair will be $12.00 per person.

After lunch our vice-president and tour chairman, Cousin Jane Seaver Kirk, will report to us on the trip to England in search of Edmund Rice's roots - a program which should be of great interest.

There will also be a business meeting, and finally, for those interested, a pilgrimage to the Edmund Rice Memorial in Wayland as well as visits to the site of the Rice homestead. Directions to those places will be available at the meeting.

QUERIES:

Note: The queries in this column are printed in the hope that one or more of our members may have relevant information. If you have such information, please correspond with the questioner directly. Also, if your query was not published, or if you wish to try a second time, do not hesitate to send it in again.

Richard R. Rice, 825 S. Osprey #302, Sarasota, FL 34236

would like to get in touch with any/all Rice descendants whose ancestors lived in Conway, Mass.

Harriet Lytle, 8861 Liberty Rd. S. Salem, OR 97306 is looking for the parents of Chester Orlando Rice (or Royce), who was born in Vermont on June 12, 1825. Chester was left an orphan and was raised by an uncle (name unknown) in New York.

Shirley Rice Johnson, 830 Wilbraham Rd. Springfield, MA 01109 would like more information about Persis Rice who married Isaac Babcock, as shown in The Rice Family, Supplement 2, Part 1, page 54. (b. ca 1773, d. 7 Apr 1814 in Washington Co. N.Y.: Gen.VI; 6-48-148-904.5)

This Persis was the daughter of Silas Rice (page 126, Register) son of Eleazer, who was the younger brother of Silas and Timothy, the boys taken by Indians in 1704. Anyone with information about her descendants, please contact Cousin Shirley.

Kathy Cleary, 121 Elm St. Portland, MI 48875 is looking for information about her great⁵ grandmother, Tamesin Rice, born 28 April 1782 in N.Y. She married Joseph Collins, and before 1839 they moved to Orleans Twp, in Ionia County, Mich.

They had 14 children; Delaney, Lucy, Jesse, Moses, Anna, Tamesin, Lucinda, Ruth Elizabeth, Emily, Phebe, Joseph Jr., Lois, Sarah C., and George W.

Tamesin (Rice) Collins died on 13 March 1859.

Joseph Jr. was the first death in Orleans Twp. Mich. in 1839. His sisters, Lois and Sally, were the first marriages there, in August, 1839, marrying Gilson Bradish and Hiram Baxter in a double wedding.

QUERIES, cont.:

June Layton, 369 Avery Rd. E, Chehallis, WA 98532, has also sent in queries about Tamesin and Joseph Collins. She has the additional information that the couple lived in Groton, Tompkins Co. N.Y. until the late 1830's.

Anita Cooper, 3001 15th Avenue North, Texas City, TX 77590, is trying to locate other descendants of her ancestor, Thomas McClure Rice and his wife, Elizabeth Wilson Rice. This Thomas is descended from Edward³, Benjamin²³, Azariah⁹⁷, Oliver²³², to Nathan (1762-1841), father of Thomas. Thomas and Elizabeth's children are: James (1825-?), Mary L. (1829-1852), Oliver Hugh (1830-1867), William Wilson (1835-1886) and Thomas Richard (1842-1887). Cousin Anita is trying to locate all of Thomas's descendants in preparation of publishing a book about the family. For more on Thomas McClure Rice, see STORIES, page 13.

Cousin Jim Holmes, 244 Flanders Road, Westborough, MA 01581, is working on a genealogy of Isaac Stone who married one Keziah Pierce and lived in Westmoreland, N.H. and Harvard, Mass. They had a daughter, Keziah Stone, born 1760 in Westmoreland, who married Abner Rice. Cousin Jim is looking for more information about Abner Rice. Could it be the same Abner who was baptised 19 January, 1755, son of Abner and Martha (Daniel) Rice?

Cousin Jim is also seeking information about Peter Rice, of Windsor, Vt., who sold 51 acres in Reading, Vt. to Daniel Stone, 13 March 1800.

And Cindy Hoyostek, Box 72, Douglas, AZ 85608, has an intriguing request. She has information about one Thomas Davis, who married Lettice (or Lettis) Rice, daughter of Elijah and Huldah (Keyes) Rice, on July 18, 1782. Thomas Davis, Cousin Cindy says, is also descended from Edmund, through his granddaughter Hannah (6-46, who married Jonathan Hubbard?).

Cousin Cindy will swap her considerable amount of info about Thomas with anyone who has more than "bare bones" information about Lettice.

STORIES

In our last issue we reported on a "mini-reunion" in Topsfield, Mass. This time we have a newspaper report of another mini-reunion, held nearly 70 years ago. The clipping is from the Orange (Mass.) Enterprise and Journal, August 11, 1916.

Rice Reunion

"The descendants of Levi Rice met on Saturday, August 5, for their thirteenth annual reunion in the Holtshire cemetery.

"Lunch was enjoyed under the trees at the home of Mrs. Ida Weaver, which was for many years the home of Lucinda Rice and her granddaughter, Mrs. Lucinda Rice Wrisley. After lunch a short memorial service was held. Mrs. Harriet N. Houghton of Baldwinville gave the prayer and a short address of welcome, urging the younger people to keep up the custom of yearly reunions.

"Poems and appropriate songs were enjoyed and letters from absent relations read. After these exercises the old cemetery was visited. Five of the seven living children were present to pay tribute to the memory of their father, Hosea Rice, who was born in 1803.

"Those present were: Mrs. H.N. Houghton, Mrs. Alice Gray of Baldwinville; Mrs. Charlotte Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Whitaker and son, Horace, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Briggs, Miss Elsie Briggs and J.C. Ridd of Athol; G.W. Rice of Spencer; E.C. Rice of Metcalf; Mrs. L.M. Spencer of Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fisk of North Leverett; Mr. and Mrs. Julian Rice of Leverett; Miss M.A. Rice, E.H. Rice of Worcester; D.N. Converse, Mr. and Mrs. C.S. Curtis, Rollin Curtis, Mrs. Ida H. Weaver of Orange."

Levi Rice (1777-1851) may be found in the Register, pg.203. He married, first, Clark, and had three children, the first-born being Hosea B. Rice, whose children are mentioned above. He married second, Keziah (Curtis) Rice, widow of his brother Reuben. They had six children, one of whom, Edwin C. Rice, b.2 Dec. 1817 in Orange, Mass. is continued in the Register.

This clipping was sent in by Kathy Cleary, 121 Elm St. Portland, ME 48875. Cousin Kathy would like to hear from anyone who may be a descendant of this Levi Rice, and of the people who attended that reunion. In fact, your scribe would like to hear from anyone who can identify, in terms of generation, relationship, and names of spouses, any of "those present".

Another cousin who also has a query (see page 8) is Anita Cooper. She sends us the following story about her ancestor.

THOMAS MCCLURE RICE heard the call for settlers to come to Texas while living in Ohio. He arrived soon after Texas had declared its independence from Mexico in 1836, settling close to the Guadalupe River in the Fort Bend area. Thomas brought with him his wife of 12 years, Elizabeth Wilson Rice, a native of Ireland, and four children aged 11, 7, 6 and 1. The prairie land and grass was much the same as the countryside surrounding the Muskingum River in Ohio. Thomas and his family soon moved to DeWitt County where many of his descendants still reside today.

In 1842, General Santa Anna sent troops to San Antonio under the command of General Adrian Woll, a European mercenary. On September 18 this infantry and cavalry of several hundred Mexican soldiers battled about 200 Texans under the commands of Captain John C. Hays and Colonel Matthew Caldwell. Answering a call to arms, Captain Nicholas M. Dawson assembled the nucleus of his band under the historic oak in LaGrange, Thomas M. Rice among them. The Battle of Salado Creek found the Texans under Captain Dawson's command entirely exposed to the fire from the enemy's cannon, being in a smooth prairie only partially protected by small mesquite trees. With many of their horses either killed, wounded or otherwise broken loose from their charge, they found no means left of retreating.

Thomas McClure Rice was among those killed in action, leaving his wife and now five children, the youngest only 7 months old. Elizabeth Rice received $80.75 from the Late Republic of Texas for her husband's horse, saddle and three weeks pay for military service. The Republic later granted her 640 acres which she sold for $65.

Six years later, the patriots of this Battle of Salado were given a military burial in a concrete vault on Monument Hill in LaGrange in the presence of Sam Houston and a great concourse of dignitaries and citizens from all over Texas. This is now owned by the State Parks and Wildlife Commission.

The following DRT members are all fourth and fifth generation descendants of Thomas and Elizabeth Rice: Anita Jean Cooper (Sterling), Jerri Lynne Sterling Woodford, Dawn Leigh Cooper Tarpley, Holly Beth Cooper, Heather Anne Cooper Callaway and Earlene McFall Rumsey.

This biography of Thomas McClure Rice has been submitted to the Daughters of the Republic of Texas Patriot Album to be published later this year.

STORIES, cont.

Harvey McLaughlin, 98, of Wilmington, Del., displays the medal he recently received from the Department of Defense.

The News Journal/Brian Price

The medal acknowledges his service during World War I, more than 75 years ago. He was interviewed by The News Journal, and portions of that interview are reported here.

- Q. You now have two medals in your collection. How did you earn the first one?
- A. It's the Victory Medal. I got that when I was discharged, in 1919. This new one, there was an article in the paper saying any veteran of the war who is still living could ask for one. I still have my discharge papers, so I asked and they sent it to me. I got the first one for being there, and this one for living so long afterwards. I didn't do anything else to deserve a medal.
- Q. Did you see combat during the war?
- A. Almost. On Armistice Day (Nov. 11, 1918) my outfit was headed for the front. We were on one of those "40 et 8" trains (boxcars marked as having capacity for 40 men or 8 horses). We stopped at this place, I don't remember the name, and all the people were dancing around and shouting "La guerre est finis!" Maybe the Germans heard we were coming.

- Q. What sort of unit was that?
- A. Field artillery. I was a corporal, in the 29th Division. That was made up of boys, mostly in the National Guard, from Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and a bit of Pennsylvania. I was what they called a range finder - on the crew of a 75mm cannon. You used this instrument to line up the sights and then you worked out the range using math or a slide rule. You had to be right about it or you might hit your own men.
- Q. How did you get that assignment?
- A. I was a college man, a junior at Lehigh University when I enlisted in Sept. 1917. We arrived in Cherbourg on July 17, 1918. The rest of the time they moved us around France before we were ordered to go up to the front.
- Q. As a college student, were you eligible for deferment? If so, why did you enlist?
- A. I thought it was the right thing to do. I guess I could have stayed out, but I didn't want to. My brother had already enlisted and I thought I should too. It turned out all right for me. I have no regrets.
- Q. You've managed to save a few souvenirs - the campaign medal, your discharge papers, a copy of the "Stars and Stripes" and some other items. Wouldn't you say that indicates the war was more than just another routine activity?
- A. I guess so. Like I said, it was part of my life. When I came back I didn't go back to school, but traveled around the country and down to Central America. I held a number of jobs - like being involved in sugar refining - until I went to work for Industrial Chemical in 1922. I stayed there until I retired. You could say the Army gave me itchy feet.
- Q. What else did the Army teach you?
- A. To ride a horse. In those days artillery was mounted, some of us had our own horses and rode alongside the (horse-drawn) cannon. We learned how to take care of the horses. My horse was named Lady, and we were friends. The thing I remember most is that the horse would come up when you would go down. City boys like me spent a lot of time sleeping on our stomachs.
- Q. It sounds like you've had your share of adventures...
- A. I've had a wonderful life. I was married for 63 years. I had a wonderful wife and a wonderful family, and I've stayed around long enough to see my great-grandchildren. I wouldn't trade a minute of it. But I'm glad I was born when I was. We didn't have TV or a lot of things we have now, but we did have respect. I'm perfectly happy. I'm glad I've lived when I did.

OBITUARIES:

Ernestine McCrillis, of Hampton, N.H. and sister of Virginia (McCrillis) Abbiati, died on June 2, 1993, after a short illness.

Alice Rice Jaffe, widow of Louis I. Jaffe, b. May 25, 1905, d. Jan. 8, 1994, at her home in Norfolk, Va. after a stroke on 12/25/93. She is survived by a son, Louis I. Jaffe, Jr. and an adoptive granddaughter, Tanya Ogsbury.

Hiram Rice, of Howard City, Mich. passed away on Jan. 26, 1994, three weeks short of his 84th birthday. The son of Henry Rice, Hiram was one of the last living members of the Sons of Civil Veterans. He was predeceased by his brother, Herbert Rice, and is survived by his wife of 54 years, Edna, their son Henry daughter Patricia, four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. also sister-in-law Hazel Rice, nieces and nephews. He was very active in the Odd Fellows and Masonic lodges, as well as the Eastern Star.

Mildred M. (Rice) Magnuson, daughter of Harriet and George Rice, passed away March 10, 1994 in Fargo, N.D. She was born April 22, 1905 in Olivet, S.D., where her parents migrated from Vermont. She married August Magnuson June 4, 1932, in Svea, Minn. Mildred taught elementary school for many years and was once elected "teacher of the year". She also worked with youth in her church, Olivet Lutheran in Fargo.

She is survived by two children, James Magnuson, Powers Lake, Wis., and Janet Eidbo, Des Moines, Iowa, and six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Kenneth McLaughlin, age 88, passed away March 14, 1994 after a short illness. Kenneth was descended from Edmund Rice through Thomas and Edward, and was a descendant of Daniel Rice, the first settler of Somerset, now Dover, Vermont. A widower after more than 60 years of marriage, he is survived by one older brother, Harvey, who is featured elsewhere in this issue. He is also survived by his daughter, Mrs. H. Haines (Janet) Stockton, two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, plus three generations of nieces and nephews.

Born in Baltimore, Md. in 1906, Kenneth early developed an interest in the then-new technology of radio. After high school he went to work for the Atwater-Kent Co., and on that company's demise he moved to R.C.A. where his talents enabled him to rise quickly. With the advent and development of television, Kenneth was assigned the task of putting color into the tube. It was he who determined that a combination of the primary colors, red, blue and yellow, which all artists use to mix paint, wouldn't work with tiny fluorescent light-dots. He was the first to try red, blue and green; and lo and behold, it worked! Since the patent was issued to R.C.A., very few are aware that Kenneth McLaughlin was the "father" of color television.

William V. Mustatia, husband of Cousin Bertha (Rice) Mustatia, passed away on April 26, 1994. In addition to Cousin Bertha, he is survived by a son, William V. Mustatia, Jr. of Grand Marais, Mich., and a daughter, Donna (Mustatia) Young of Soap Lake, Wash.

Our sympathy to the families of all of these people.

POST SCRIPT

Dear Cousins,

As we rush headlong into the twenty-first century, the fifth (!) century since the birth of Edmund Rice, and the era of electronic communications, it may be well to pause for a moment and consider who and where we are.

We are an organization of the descendants of Edmund Rice, who came to New England in search of freedom; freedom to farm as he thought best, freedom to worship in the simple way he and his friends felt was fitting, and most of all, freedom to make his own way in the world without being beholden to clergy or nobility in any way. The purpose of this organization is to keep alive that heritage of self-respect and self-reliance, by "sharing and dispensing knowledge about Edmund Rice and his descendants, and the promotion of fellowship among its members and friends.

"Membership is open to anyone claiming a lineal descent from Edmund Rice, and to his or her spouse. Rigorous proof of descent is not required, for often the needed information becomes available with the help of other members and the Association's publications." The Association is headed by the usual complement of officers and a Board of Directors. At the recent mid-year meeting of the Directors, some decisions were made of which the membership at large should be aware.

One of these was to increase the dues, an increase long overdue. The new schedule, effective Sept. 1, 1994 - Sept. 1, 1995, is as follows:

Initial dues for new members, regardless of age $10.00

Annual dues, payable each September 1 thereafter:

Up to 80 years of age $10.00

80 years of age and older $ 5.00

A Life Membership for those who would prefer a single payment . . $100.00

Notice was also taken of the need for a new person to take on the post of Historian, to compile and follow up on our accumulating genealogical manuscripts. Some familiarity with computers and electronic communication is desirable but not essential.

We look forward to your presence and support on September 24.

Affectionately,

Corinne Snow
